If I were a skydiver, a pilot, or a mountain climber, I might fear my onomatopoeic name as an omen of an eventual demise. It is fortunate then that I don't participate in any such life threatening activities. In fact, I live a rather quiet, ordinary life. I've never jumped out of an airplane, don't care much for flying, and have no interest in climbing anything other than the flight of stairs required to get to class each day. I'm an average guy with a wife, a kid, and a mortgage. I'm employed in the restaurant industry, which is a technical way of saying I wait tables and tend bar. When not working, I like to spend time with my family, doodle cartoons, and read. I'm excited to begin the study of graphic design, and you can see by what I've presented before you, I have much, much to learn.
